AMERICAN LEGEND HOMES

99%

HOMEOWNER WILLINGNESS TO REFER

An extraordinary 99% of our buyers have said that they would be willing to refer American Legend Homes to their friends and family based on the outstanding level of customer service and overall excellent buying experience they had.

These results come directly from a survey given to all American Legend home buyers at closing and not only measures willingness to refer, but also collects valuable insight on everything from sales staff communication and product quality to timely delivery and condition at move-in. The feedback provided on this survey is especially important because the overall home building experience is still fresh in the buyer's mind, resulting in very candid responses.

We are humbled by our customer's willingness to refer American Legend Homes and will continually strive to provide the highest level of customer service throughout the homebuilding journey.

“Good word-of-mouth is not something that can be bought.”
